

Evening ILLUSTRATED Ledger

WEDNESDAY

February 24, 1915

PERSONS, PLACES AND SCENES PROMINENT IN THE NEWS OF A WORLD'S DOINGS DAY BY DAY

Photo by Underwood & Underwood.
BATHING COSTUMES IN THE MODE
Mrs. S. Harris, of New York, in an effect neat but not gaudy.
Taken at Palm Beach.

SOMewhat MORE COQUETTISH
Mrs. John E. Liggett in a fetching affair upon which spectators bestowed much praise.

THE CYNOSURE OF MANY EYES
Mrs. T. Jefferson Evans, of Ohio, in white and cerise stripes, with white stockings and a pink cap.

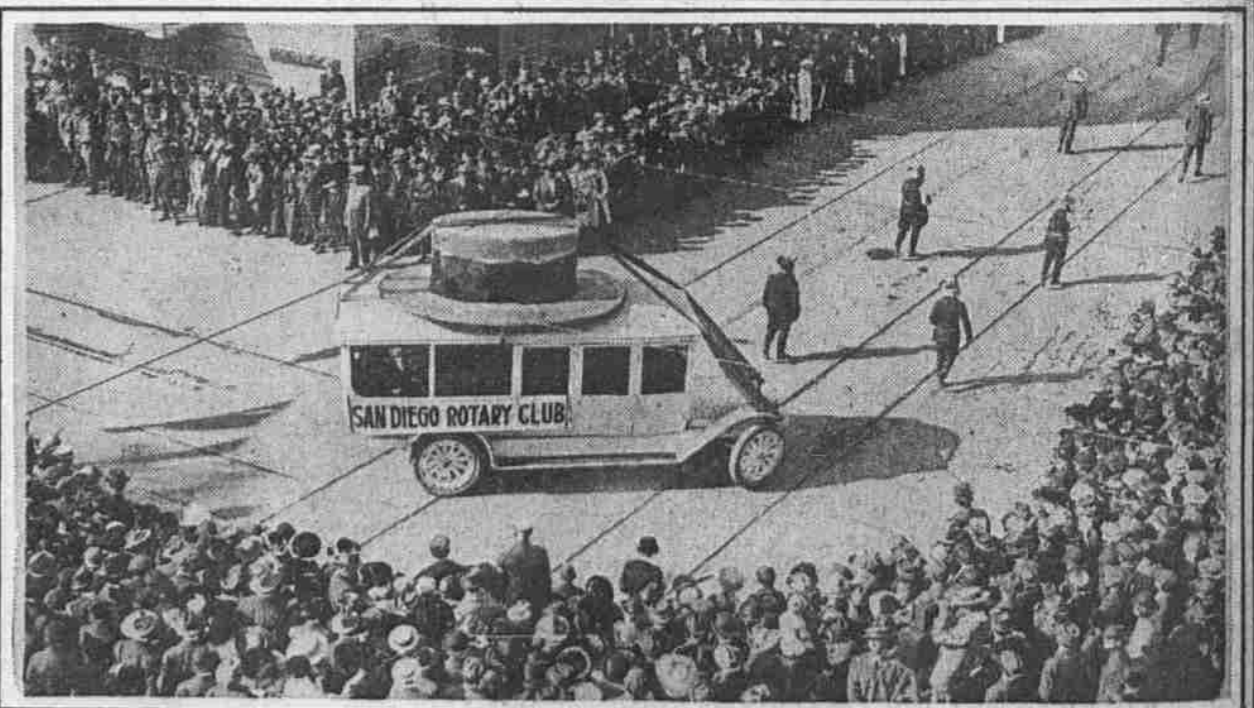

Photo by International News Service.
STRAW HAT DAY IN SAN DIEGO
The "lid" was made extra large as a symbol of the climate of which Exposition visitors are invited freely to partake. The paraders wore gaily decorated Panamas.

A PAIR MORE OR LESS IN POLITICS
James H. Hallett, former president of Select Council, and State Senator "Ed" Vane, with his cigar pointed straight down Broad street.

HE BORES THROUGH A STREET CROWD
Director of Supplies Herman Loeb is one of the city family's fastest and most intrepid pedestrians.

BURGLARS WILL AVOID THEIR HOME
A family of expert shots in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Springer, of Wilmington, Del., and their son, Ralph, 14 years old. Taken on the grounds of the Du Pont Gun Club.